APRIL 2014

April 16: Sally Melville

Join us as we welcome back knitting superstar and author Sally Melville. Sally will speak about “Why We Do What We Do”— an exploration of what knitting (and any handwork) does for the soul. It makes us happy, promotes good mental health, and even contributes to our economic recovery.

Sally helps us to understand why we love to do what we do, and why we should keep doing it!

Temporary Location Change

Great news! Innis Hall is being renovated. This means better seats, better lighting and a nicer meeting space in general. However, it also means the guild is going to have to meet somewhere else for a while.

Our April meeting will take place directly across the street from Innis Hall... it couldn't be more convenient. We will meet in the Claude T. Bissell Building, 140 St. George Street, just south of Innis Hall.

There will be plenty of signs and volunteers on hand to make sure everyone gets to the right place. We've just confirmed that the April, May and June meetings will all take place at the same location.

Highlights of the March Meeting by Heather Brady

It was a dark and stormy night, but a full house was on hand to hear Fiona Ellis at the March meeting.

Announcements

Hey, did you know the Frolic is coming up? We're looking for volunteers.

A new yarn store called LadeeBee Knits is opening in the west end on April 5- it will feature knitting, crocheting, beading, etc.

Some cool knitters' travel tours are coming up: Viking Route Cruise, Scottish Skeins & Skerries Tour, and Irish Treasures. Visit joycejamestours.com for details.

Raffle

Indigodragonfly sock yarn was won by Judi Hanninen. Terri Schipper won the book Simple Knits with a Twist. Joan Lockhart-Grace won Indigodragonfly laceweight. Then three prizes donated by Fiona: Inspired Fair Isle Knits was won by Holly Yip. An "Elvis Paisley" Soak Box was won by Blanche Douglas. A Needle Pulling Thread magazine was won by Gilda G, and a Twist Collective gift certificate was won by Elsa Louise May.

Show & Tell

Denise wore a Box Sweet pullover she knit from a Shelridge Farms kit, featuring striking modular chevrons, designed by Anne Feitelson and Candace Eisner Strick.

Cherilyn showed two scarves that are very hot right now: Bactus and Hitchhiker. There are over 9,000 finished Bactus on Ravelry, and 16,000+ finished Hitchhikers. They are popular for a reason! Beautiful work.

Mary Pat showed a mobius cowl from the handspun of your humble newsletter editor, in shades of orange, pink and yellow.

Kim showed a Pearls cardigan, crocheted with Louet wet spun linen. She started it three times before she was satisfied (a typical Goldilocks situation: too hot, too cold, just right).

Judi showed a Peplum Cardigan from Vogue Fall 2009 in Filatura di Crossa, with several modifications-she got rid of the bell sleeves and narrowed the collar. Judi reports that it's nice and warm, and she's worn it nearly every day this winter, for obvious reasons!

Sydney showed two scarves: first, a striking Colour Affection in blue, grey and yellow. Sydney admits that she hated knitting it until she got to the third colour. The second scarf was Carson by Romi Hill: A three-colour version in red, taupe and cream. Both elicited gasps of admiration from the audience.

Guest Speaker

Fiona Ellis: Pondering Paisley
Fiona's presentation gave the audience a whole new perspective on the humble motif that has been lurking around on pyjamas, ties and bandanas for many years.

Its origins lie in Persia, in the simplified shape of a tree with roots. It gradually evolved into the highly stylized tadpole shape we are familiar with today. The Persian cashmere shal adorned with these patterns was worn exclusively by men. However, by the 18th century the decorated shawls found favour with the women of European aristocracy, brought back as gifts by men working for the East India Co. and Napoleon's armies in Egypt.

With the invention of the Jacquard loom, the complex patterns were being woven domestically by the 1800s. Because of the prominence of Paisley, Scotland in the weaving industry, the town's name soon became synonymous with the motif itself.

Shawls fell out of favour in the late 1800s, because nothing should cover the newly-popular bustle.

The paisley pattern didn't surface again until the 1960s and 70s on psychedelic prints, because of a renewed interest in all things Eastern.

A big paisley trend has not been seen since, though it has become a staple as a print for loungewear and ties. Fiona decided it was time to translate the paisley to knitting, with beautiful results.

We'd like to thank Fiona for this fascinating bit of fashion history. Her "Paisley" pullover pattern can be found on Twist Collective.

UPCOMING EVENTS

Peterborough Fibre Arts Festival

Peterborough Handweavers and Spinners Guild presents the fourth annual Fibre Arts Festival, Saturday, April 5, 2014, 10am - 3pm in the lower level of the Peterborough Public Library, 345 Aylmer Street. Admission $2, children under 10 are free.

Demonstrations and displays will be presented by local guilds and fibre artists, including basketry, bobbin lace, caning, cording, crocheting, embroidery, felting, knitting, millinery, paper making, quilting, rug hooking, silk painting, spinning, tating and weaving.

16th Annual Knitter's Frolic

The Frolic is now just a few weeks away! It's the weekend of April 26-27. As always, the event will feature workshops, food, fibre and fun. Our keynote instructor this year will be author and knitwear designer Candace Eisner Strick.

Frolic Volunteers Needed!

The Frolic needs someone who would be willing to help supervise the Yarn Winding Station with Nora Galsi. You would need to commit to the full day, but having two supervisors on the station allows for each volunteer to have time away to shop, eat, rest, or take a class.

In addition, we still have volunteer openings for the following stations:

Line Marshalls	8:00-10:00
Vendor Hospitality Suite	3:30-4:30
Yarn Winding	11:30-1:30 3:30-5:00
Raffle Prize Table	8:30-10:30 10:30-12:30 12:30-2:30
Frolic Café	11:00-1:00 1:00-3:00 3:00-5:00

If you are able to help out, please send an email to frolicvolunteer@gmail.com. Volunteers get free admission and access to the Hospitality Suite.
